

Cornerstone Award Winners Announced

By Joel Schofield

Robert L. Vogelsang, President & CEO of Broadband Properties Magazine, presented the 2003 Cornerstone Awards at a luncheon ceremony held on September 9, at the annual Broadband Properties Summit in Denver, CO.

"It is my honor to be able to recognize each of these companies with a prestigious Cornerstone Award," said Vogelsang. "Their outstanding work has been of great importance to the continued growth of this industry."

The Cornerstone Awards represent annual recognition of excellence in the field of broadband and digital cable television services for residential multifamily (MDU) and commercial (MTU) properties.

Each year, a committee of industry leaders, analysts, and writers vote to bestow these Cornerstone Awards to companies or individuals whose accomplishments of the previous 12 months are deserving of this special recognition.

The 2003 winners are:

Cable Operator of the Year

Awarded to the operator who represents excellence in providing digital video and broadband services while continuing overall exceptional standing with peers, vendors and owners throughout the MDU industry.

Winner: MediaWorks

Karla Haser and Bryan Rader of MediaWorks with their Cable Operator of the Year Cornerstone Award

Broadband Provider of the Year

Awarded to the company that provided excellence in broadband partnership opportunities for providers, building owners or property management companies.

Winner: Verizon Avenue

Robert L. Vogelsang presenting Verizon Avenue's Monty Gaden with the Cornerstone Award for Broadband Provider of the Year

Technology Innovation Award

Awarded to the company who provided the most significant innovation for better enabling operators to provide highly competitive services in the residential multifamily or commercial properties marketplace.

Winner: coaXmedia

Robert L. Vogelsang presenting coaXmedia's Lynn Agnes with the Cornerstone Award for Technology Innovation

Industry Leadership Award

Presented to the individual who has dedicated time and energy beyond what is required to raise the status and advance the cause for technologies serving residential multifamily and commercial properties.

Winner: Bill Burhop, Executive Director, Independent Multifamily Communications Counsel (IMCC)

Robert L. Vogelsang presenting Bill Burhop of the IMCC with the Cornerstone Award for Industry Leadership

Additionally, Broadband Properties Magazine presented its annual Cornerstone Award recognizing contributions to the publication over the course of 2003:

Nominations for the 2004 Cornerstone Awards can be submitted via the Broadband Properties Magazine website beginning in May 1, 2004. The nomination period will remain open until July 31, 2004.

Please visit www.broadbandproperties.com for more information.

Excellence in Editorial Contribution

Presented to the individual who exhibited excellence in their editorial contribution to Broadband Properties Magazine over the previous 12 months.

Winner: Jason Marcheck, Confluence Consulting Group

Jason Marcheck,
Confluence
Consulting Group

About the Cornerstone Awards

Originally established in 1989 as the Diamond Tier Awards and presented as recognition of achievement to companies providing cable services to the MDU industry, the Cornerstone Awards were expanded in 2000 to include and recognize achievements in broadband and telecommunications for residential multifamily (MDU) and commercial (MTU) properties. The awards are presented annually at the Broadband Properties Summit.

"The Cornerstone Awards represent annual recognition of excellence..."

